Art Unit: 2155

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claims 1-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Allison (USP 6,373,848).

Details of the rejection has already been set forth in the last Office action. The details are incorporated herein by reference thereto.

In the communication filed on June 15, 2003, Applicants discuss other teachings in Allison which the Examiner does not rely on in his rejection. The invention as constructed by the Examiner in his rejection meets all the claim limitations. The independent claims call for a method of receiving data from a network. The method includes a first step for issuing a request directing a transfer of data from one of a plurality of device ports to a storage unit and a second step for specifying a thread from among a plurality of processing program threads to process the data. Applicants do not dispute that Allison specifically teach the first step and as to the second step that one of ordinary skill in the art should readily recognize that a program is constructed of plurality of instructions which are organized or grouped into subroutines or threads in accordance with their functions such as interrupt subroutine, word processing subroutine or I/O subroutine as pointed out in the Office action. Rather, Applicants suggest to modify Allison's communication between the single receive path and the multiplexer included in Allison's MAC and then argue that the modified system is not the claimed invention. That is not how the Examiner applied the Allison reference.

Art Unit: 2155

Further, Applicants fail to provide any arguments as to how the claimed invention is patentable distinct over Allison. In re Neilson, 816 F.2d 1567, 2 USPQ 1525 (Fed. Cir. 1987). The court held that simply pointing out what a claim requires with no attempt to point out how the claims patentably distinguish over the prior art does not amount to a separate argument for patentability.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
